

Abyssinian (ABY)

Body

The cat is medium sized and elegant. The body is firm, lithe and muscular. The rib cage is slightly rounded, with no evidence of flat sides. The back appears slightly arched giving the impression of a cat about to jump.

The legs are sinewy, long and slender. The paws are narrow and oval.

The neck is slender and graceful.

Tail

The long tail is strong at the base and ends in a tapering tip.

The tail is feathered flanks.

Head

The head is moderately wedge-shaped with gently rounded contours and no flat areas. The forehead is gently rounded and the profile is slightly curved.

The nose is of medium length and has a straight nose line.

The muzzle has gently rounded contours and is neither pointed nor narrow.

The chin is firm, but without excess or pronounced protrusion that could disturb the overall balance of the face.

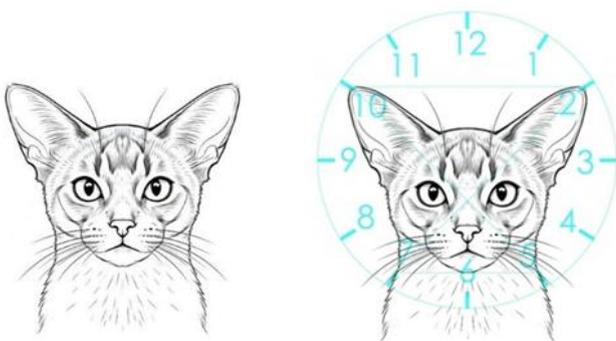

Ears

The ears are large and set wide apart. They are deep-cup shaped and broad at the base tapering to slightly rounded tips. Ideally, the ears start on the line of the middle of the eyes and extends the edge of the head (ear tips are positioned so they point at 10 and 2 o'clock), they are tilted just slightly forward, lending the cat an expression of curiosity.

The ears should not be lower than the lower eyelid and should follow a horizontal line from the outer edge of the ear to the outer eyelid.

Ear tufts and a thumb print are desired.

Head with correct position of ears:

Eyes

The eyes are large, brilliant, expressive and open, slightly almond-shaped neither round nor oriental and set wide apart, slightly slanted.

The eye colour is pure and clear - yellow, amber to green. In the silver varieties green eyes preferred.

The eye lids are encircled (eye rims) with the colour of the ticking in all colour varieties.

Coat

The coat is short but long enough to accommodate two or three dark bands of ticking. It is dense, fine, and glossy with the presence of a slight undercoat, lying elastically against the body.

Ticking

Double or preferably triple banding on each single hair. The ticking shall be extended evenly and without stripes over the entire body. The line along the spine (eel line), the tail tip and the plantar side of the hind paws are coloured intensely in the colour of the ticking.

The chest, belly and the inner side of the legs are without ticking and of the corresponding base colour.
